*Not everything in this world is Black Or White..
There is Grey..! The Mysterious Grey..!!*

Preamble

When in 1966, Homi Jahangir Bhabha's plane crashed mid air, everyone thought it was an accident.. Until a CIA Operative confessed the angle of sabotage in it..

In 1994, major scandal broke out in ISRO which led to accusations of Pakistan and Russian spy agencies' involvement

When in the past about 12 years, as many as ten Indian nuclear scientists were either abducted, killed or just went missing, no one including the Government of India considered the hand of a foreign intelligence agency in it..

What if there is..

What if there is more to it than meets the eye..

Synopsis

Professor Sudarshan Reddy, eminent Nuclear Scientist, is killed and officer Nayak comes in to investigate the death. He meets Arushi Reddy, the breathtakingly beautiful and doubtfully young wife of Prof Reddy. Nayak, who is smitten by her at first sight, starts asking questions and Arushi takes him through the Professor's life and her own marriage to him, Professor's fears of being chased by foreign intelligence agencies..

Are they just his fears or real.. Is it a murder by foreign agencies or a suicide driven by schizophrenia..

As time passes by and the investigation has marched on, Nayak realizes that there is another person, a Dr. Raghu the professor's psychiatrist also involved, even romantically with Arushi..

Is it Dr. Raghu who's conspired with Arushi to kill the Professor.. Is it a simple Crime of passion..

As the drama unfolds and more questions are asked, it opens up the grey shadows that define intelligence agencies, their procedures, the betrayals, the scandals and the cover-ups to achieve their mission..
